The many benefits of electronic invoicing

Acting sustainably is the duty of a business. This also applies to paper consumption: if all invoices sent annually by the Messer Group were stacked on top of each other, a 500-metre-high paper tower would be created. This is reason enough for us to recommend electronic invoicing - or E-invoicing for short - to you. You receive your invoice (E-invoice) by e-mail, i.e. paperless, and have access to your invoice archive and more via your personalised website.

Benefits of the E-Invoice:

- Fast and secure delivery of invoices to your accounting department
- No processing of paper invoices in your company
- Simple electronic storage of invoices. Optional: XML format for direct import of invoices into ERP systems.
- Efficient communication between the departments responsible for invoice processing
- Audited invoicing system in accordance with VAT legislation
- Round the clock online access to your invoices
- Business data can be updated at any time to ensure correct billing
- Optional access to scanned delivery notes and more

A comprehensive service that is worthwhile for you

E-Invoice is part of an administrative „all-round carefree package“: In addition to electronic invoice dispatch, it also contains electronic order confirmations, delivery notes, proof of rental, payment advice and more. You can access these documents at any time via your personalised website.

Further advantages of our complete package with E-invoice as a basic element: Your electronic invoices can also be sent to several addressees on request. This is optionally also possible with delivery notes, proof of rental and order confirmations. You can also access your document archive at any time and use other E-Services from Messer if you wish.

You can obtain further information about E-Invoice and other Messer E-Services from your contact at Messer, on the website of your national subsidiary at <http://www.messergroup.com/web/services> or <https://einvoice.messergroup.com>. or directly from:
